Anne Casson Licensed Lay Minister

Anne reflects on a meeting held recently for Bracknell and Maidenhead & Windsor Deaneries to support parish ministry with children and young people

How did you come to faith?

This was the starting point on a recent Saturday morning meeting for those who work with children in local parishes. Fr Richard was there with representatives from our Sunday Club, Messy Church and Open the Book.

the online newsletter from the Church of England in Central Windsor

Bishop Olivia led the event 'How can we help?' and started by introducing a specimen youngster who came to faith as a child. He was billed as the upper age we were considering: a young man in baggy shorts, black socks and old trainers. In my opinion, he was rather an easy-win. His parents and older siblings had sung in their church choir for as long as he could remember. He joined them as soon as he could – and faith-wise, didn't seem to have looked back. At 27, he was about to train for the ministry and was doing a year's placement as a pastoral assistant. He was asked what he thought important for bringing children to faith. His answer was interesting: let them be involved in every service in some practical way – not always sent out and then expected to fit in with the rest of the congregation when they return.

Is this something we could do for our children? How would you feel about it?

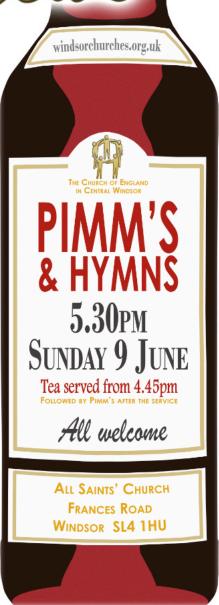

There were no other children introduced to tell us their experiences, but we had lists of children's comments under the headings 'How does the Church help you grow in faith? And 'How does Church hinder your faith?' Here is a selection of their answers:

Helps: Reminds me of the love of God; helps me to understand more about my faith and why Jesus died for me; keeps me connected to God; being around people who all believe the same as you; community that supports; love to sing and worship God with everyone else.

Hinders: Aimed at older people; it's boring so it makes you not want to go; it doesn't connect me to God in a way I understand; doesn't have fun; sometimes it's hard to engage with God, especially in formal services, rather sleep in.

Attendees were asked to open up discussions in their churches, asking members what changes might be acceptable in a plan to make our worship more accessible to younger people and newcomers. Perhaps, people would not like to make any changes and favour a separate worship experience for those who are not coping with what happens already. We really need to have this discussion.

There is a lot of work already happening in the Reading Episcopal area. Some examples: Holiday Clubs, when the church provides Christian teaching and games in the morning or the afternoon for a week during the school holidays. Charity support groups who go into schools and provide quiet spaces for children and lead quiet times for prayer and meditation.

Some Family and Childrens Workers who had successfully led regular, well-attended all-age worship, were offering to help others. Workers talked about their 'Wonderfully Made' – an all-age session with adults sharing their craft interests with others; their follow up to a holiday club with 'Ice-cream Sundae'.

In our parish we have regular outreach to children: through schools' assemblies, Open the Book, monthly Messy Church and regular Sunday Club. All of these are showing Christian love in action and introducing our faith to children, but how will this work when the children grow older? How can we bring families to feel they are an essential part of the community of all believers?

We were all asked to open up the discussion in our parishes. So here we are!

The first step is for everyone to think how they came to faith: parents? friends? someone else? And to ask ourselves, how can we be that someone else?

What made Christian worship attractive for us when we were beginning Christians? How can we offer more of that to the families that visit our churches?

Please, everyone, chat about this, share your ideas. Aim for it to be our churches that provide a speaker at the next 'How can we help' meeting.

celebrated the birth of the church with the feast of Pentecost. The energy of our young parishioners mirrored the energy of that first outpouring. Messy Church is always a vibrant occasion where children have the opportunity to learn and worship in a style that connects to where they are in life. It is a space in which their voice is heard. It is always a positive enlivening experience that brings all generations together. Should you wish to become a volunteer, please contact me.

Blessings, Fr Richard

Now that Prime Minister Rishi Sunak has called a General Election, there is just a short time until the nation goes to the polls to choose the next government on 4 July. So now is the time for churches and individuals to take action!

At the centre of this action is a call to prayer as we look ahead to a season of change.

Bishop Steven reflected: "The Church is called to pray for the wellbeing of our nation and society as we approach the crossroads of a General Election. The world and our nation face deep and serious challenges. We should pray for integrity and grace in every aspect of the campaign. I call on all Christians across the Diocese of Oxford to set aside time each day to pray for our nation.

"I know that every church across the Diocese of Oxford will pray for the election each time Christians meet together. Everyone is welcome to join us. Christians across the diocese will be hosting hustings in every constituency. These familiar lines from the Lord's Prayer will guide us in our intercessions and our actions, as Jesus prayed: 'your kingdom come, your will be done on earth as in heaven.'"

You can sign up for the Church of England's 21-day General Election
Prayer Journey via this link or by visiting the Church of England website.

Diocesan Synod

The next triennium of Oxford Diocesan Synod begins on 1 August 2024. The Deanery of Maidenhead and Windsor is entitled to elect four lay members. Please consider standing – you need to be a communicant and be on the electoral roll of a parish.

There is more information on our website, forms will need to be with the Area Dean by 4 June.

Paws for Thought

Dear Friends,

We nearly lost a ball the other day. The Boss threw it as usual; we watched it go through the air and roll along the ground into the hedge. We both thought we knew where it had landed, and I headed straight in to retrieve it. But, it wasn't there! I went further in but not a sign of it. The Boss came over to see what was going on. I still couldn't find it. This meant The Boss had to offer to help. (This is always slightly embarrassing as she's the thrower and I'm supposed to be the finder but hey ho sometimes it's unavoidable).

The Boss poked around for a bit unsuccessfully and then began to look fed up. "Not to worry", she said. "It's only a tennis ball; you have a pile of others at home". And she made to go home! I ignored her and carried on searching. She got more fed up. "Come on", she said. "Leave it now". I was not at all happy but just as she came forward with the lead, I had a moment of inspiration. "What would Jesus do?" I said. The Boss looked at me enquiringly. "What do you mean, "What would Jesus do?" she said, in a rather dismissive tone I felt. "Sheep" I said, "Sheep and coins". "What are you talking about?" she said but as she spoke realisation dawned on her face. "Ahh, parables", she said. "The Lost Sheep and The Lost Coin". "Well, obviously", I said. "The shepherd had 99 other sheep but searched long and hard for the lost one and the woman turned her whole house upside down to find the coin, even though she had 9 others exactly the same. God loves everyone and wants everyone to be found", I continued. "Same with tennis balls and dogs", I added.

"For goodness' sake!", she said but she let me carry on looking and there it was. Right in front of my nose all the time. I picked it up and carried it home rejoicing.

Yours happily,

Barnabas The Vicarage Dog

MAY 9th 2024

Our prayers were led by Margaret Pettitt who prayed for our members who were sick and everyone who was suffering in any way, whether from ill health, abuse, loneliness or the victim of wars and unrest. We also prayed for the work of The Mothers' Union throughout the world.

We were delighted to welcome our friend and supporter, Father John Quick. John gave us an interesting account of his life eventually resulting in his becoming ordained.

John was born in Finchley, North London but when he was 11 his family moved to Potter's Bar where he attended Mount Grace Comprehensive School. During this time John became a Boy Scout and this was the real start of his Church journey

But John was determined to become a teacher. So in 1968 John started his Teacher Training at Northern Counties College, Newcastle University. On completion he undertook a part time course at Birkbeck College, London University receiving in 1973 a degree in Geography.

During this time John had met his future wife, Dee., and eventually taught at St Peter's CE School in Old Windsor, beginning his long association with St Stephen's Church....Dee's family were committed worshippers there.

Then in the late 1990's The Church of England introduced Ordination of Local Priests, OLM.

John had recently taken early retirement from teaching so undertook the training

With great support from Church members John was finally Ordained as an Ordained Local Minister over twenty years ago.

We felt very privileged to share John's journey.

John answered many questionsexcept one....his experiences as Consort when Dee became Mayor, as her Father had many years before.

That is a story for a future meeting!

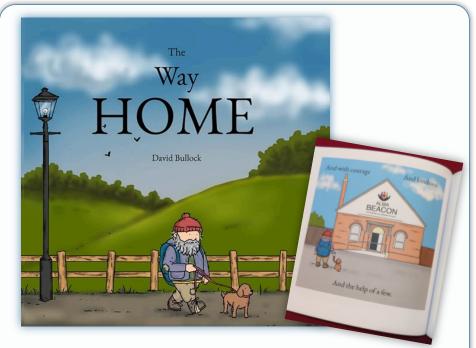

Our next meeting is on June 13th at 3.30 at All Saint's Hall. We have a Speaker from WINDSOR HERITAGE CARE, Alma Road Windsor

They spoke to Rev Sally about telling the Community about their Services. With so many people needing help...or likely to in the future.....we hope people will come to our meeting to learn what could be available.

Everyone is welcome....remember... if you've had a Mother you are very welcome at Mothers' Union

Please let me know if you are coming and bringing friends...we do want to put out sufficient chairs.....also cakes for tea!

Estlyn Davies

The amazingly talented David Bullock, our local Police Community Support Officer, has written and illustrated another children's book! It is described as:

A touching and uplifting story about homelessness and hope.

A man and his dog travel from place to place with no roof above their heads or a bed to sleep in at night. They have no door to close or a fire to keep them warm, but nevertheless they stick together through the highs and the lows, dreaming of one day finding a place to call home.

This beautifully illustrated book focusses on the important topic of homelessness and shows children what can be achieved with courage, kindness and the support of good people.

All proceeds from the sale of this book will go to help fund The Alma Beacon charity which supports the homeless and those in need in Windsor, England.

This book is particularly special as it features, not only Holy Trinity Parish Room, but some familiar faces – look out for the local vicar, Karen Allott and Stephanie Minici! It is only available from Amazon.

Erasmus, patron saint of sailors

Do you like messing about in boats? If so, then you'll have heard of St Elmo's Fire. It is the light that is sometimes seen on mastheads of boats after storms at sea. St Elmo is another name for St Erasmus, a fourth century Syrian bishop who was not afraid of violent storms. Legend has it that one day when Erasmus was preaching outside, a thunderbolt hit the ground right beside him. That might have distracted modern bishops, but not Erasmus – he just kept on preaching. His courage won him the respect of sailors, who made him their patron saint. Erasmus finally died during the Diocletian persecutions in 300AD, and his feast day is 2nd June.

I recently visited Kirkcudbright, my wife Anne's home town in the south-west Scotland. That visit and hearing an item on the radio prompted my choice of poem this month. South-west Scotland is Robert Burns country and Burns is credited with writing the Selkirk Grace recited at Burn's nights the world over (named after the Earl of Selkirk who had a house at Kirkcudbright):

'Some hae meat and canna eat, And some wad eat that want it; But we hae meat and we can eat, Sae the Lord be thankit.'

"Now westlin winds" is one of Burns earliest songs, written when at the age of 17 he was infatuated with Peggy Thomson. Unusually for a love-song, the poem includes lines of protest against the 'slaught'ring guns' of sportsmen, balanced by descriptions of the creatures of the area and his Peggy.

Now westlin winds

Now westlin winds, and slaught'ring guns (western)
Bring Autumn's pleasant weather;
The moorcock springs on whirring wings,
Amang the blooming heather:
Now waving grain, wide o'er the plain,
Delights the weary farmer;
And the moon shines bright, as I rove by night,
To muse upon my charmer.

The plover lo'es the mountains;
The woodcock haunts the lonely dells;
The soaring hern the fountains:
Thro lofty groves, the cushat roves,
The path o man to shun it;
The hazel bush o'erhangs the thrush,
The spreading thorn the linnet.

The paitrick lo'es the fruitfu fells;

Thus ev'ry kind their pleasure find,
The savage and the tender;
Some social join, and leagues combine;
Some solitary wander:
Avaunt, away, the cruel sway!
Tyrannic man's dominion!
The sportsman's joy, the murd'ring cry,
The flutt'ring, gory pinion!

But Peggy dear, the ev'ning's clear, Thick flies the skimming swallow; The sky is blue, the fields in view, All fading-green and yellow: Come let us stray our gladsome way, And view the charms of Nature; The rustling corn, the fruited thorn, And ilka happy creature.

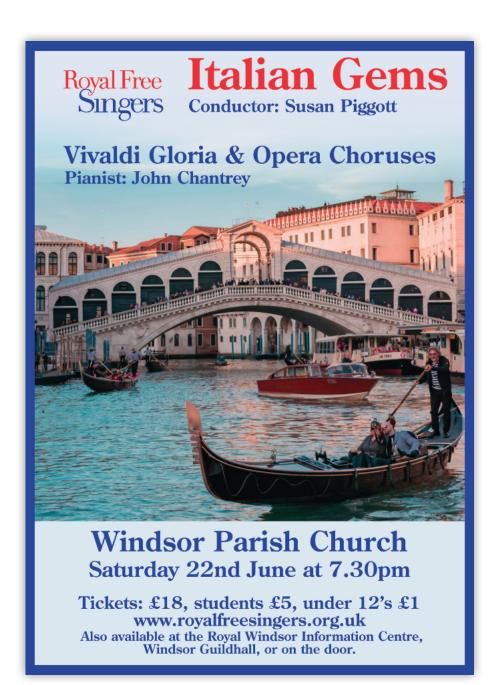

We'll gently walk, and sweetly talk,
While the silent moon shines clearly;
I'll clasp thy waist, and fondly prest,
Swear how I lo'e thee dearly:
Not vernal show'rs to budding flow'rs,
Not Autumn to the farmer,
So dear can be, as thou to me,
My fair, my lovely charmer!

Raising money for Holy Trinity Spire

Mary Skelton walked 50 miles, in 5 mile stages, last year to start the fundraising for Holy Trinity's Spire. The spire is currently netted with the PCC hoping to raise enough funds (likely to be excess of £100,000) for a full repair in 4 years' time.

May I offer a huge 'Thank you' to all who sponsored my walk to raise money for the spire at Holy Trinity Church? I managed to raise £5,041 although £2,000 was given by one donor, it was £10 and £20's plus larger amounts that made up the bulk of the rest.

I must say I enjoyed the walking, not starting until about 09.30 or later; I usually went through Clewer Village and up the path to cross the river beside the Relief Road, allowing me access to the Thames Path along to Boveney Lock; from there I would either access the Eton Wick Road or go along the footpath to pass under the Relief Road and the Railway Arches, turning left noting what was happening in the allotments, before accessing the road again. I would then walk into Eton, passing the ancient stray animal pen, turning right to pass more College buildings along South Meadow Lane, across another footpath to join the Thames Path again and across the Brocas, over Eton Bridge, down the steps to eventually go through Alexandra Gardens and so home. This was a pleasant walk, perhaps talking to people on the boats or watching the boats going through the lock, noticing the different flowers, the crops in the fields, the allotments, one that obviously catered for children to play, the berries in the hedgerow, lovely bird song, the swans looking to visitors who might be feeding them, meeting people along the way and noticing the trains as they went from Windsor Central to Slough and back. Occasionally I would buy an ice cream but have to sit and eat it – a habit from school days when we were not allowed to walk in the street eating or drinking. I did walk a long way through different parts of town, to walk from the Castle gates to the Copper Horse and back – most boring! I invariably covered six miles and the last was over seven miles but I did the ten walks whatever the distance.

No doubt the walking and fresh air helped me on my way.

If there was a down side, it was the rubbish; it would seem that people can carry a full can or bottle to drink from but are unable to carry it empty to dispose of properly but of course this is not only along the Thames Path. The one hazard were cyclists who rode quite quickly and although I kept my ears open and frequently looked round, I was occasionally taken by surprise.

I hope to carry on walking but here always seems to be something else to do.

Mary Skelton

Chicory were among the flowers that Mary enjoyed seeing on her walk - thanks to her for the photo as well the item (and the walk!)

Trinity Sunday

The Ven Stephen Pullin, Archdeacon of Berkshire, with Steve Holton, Churchwarden

Trinity Sunday was marked by a day of celebrations at Holy Trinity last month. The Ven Stephen Pullin, Archdeacon of Berkshire, preached at the Sung Eucharist in the morning. If you missed the service you can view it on our YouTube channel. In the afternoon the Friends of Holy Trinity enjoyed a talk by Steve Holton, a very nice afternoon tea, followed by Choral Evensong. Thank you to everyone who made the day a success!

This month it was...

200 years ago, on 16th June 1824, that a London vicar, Arthur Broome, and some 22 of his friends, including the MPs William Wilberforce (anti-slavery campaigner) met at Old Slaughters Coffee House to found the SPCA - the first national animal protection society in the world. By1840 Queen Victoria had given permission for it to be called the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

150 years ago, on 22nd June 1874, that the first lawn tennis sets went on sale in London. They included balls, racquets, a net, poles, court markers, and instructions. They were designed by Walter Clopton Wingfield, who is credited with having invented modern lawn tennis. Wimbledon began hosting international lawn tennis championships in 1877.

125 years ago, on 19th June 1899 that Anglo-Egyptian Sudan was established. It was granted independence in 1956 as the Republic of Sudan. South Sudan gained its independence in 2011. On 15th April 2023, violent clashes erupted between the Sudanese Armed Forces (SAF) and the paramilitary Rapid Support Forces (RSF) in Sudan, resulting in the displacement of more than 8.6 million people. There are currently about 25 million people in need of aid in Sudan.

100 years ago, on 8th June 1924 that George Mallory, British mountaineer, disappeared on Mount Everest. His body was found in 1999. go years ago, on 30th June 1934 was the Night of the Long Knives: Hitler's execution of a number of senior Nazi officials and hundreds of other (perceived) political opponents.

8o years ago, on 6th June 1944 that D-Day and the Normandy Landings took place. More than 150,000 Allied troops landed on the beaches of Normandy. The Battle of Normandy ended on 25th August. Allied victory.

Also 80 years ago, on 13th June 1944 that Germany launched the first V-1 flying bomb ('doodlebug') attack on London. 9,521 V-1s were fired at London and south-east England during the war.

75 years ago, on 8th June 1949 that George Orwell's novel Nineteen Eighty-Four was published.

70 years ago, on 7th June 1954 that Alan Turing, British mathematician, logician, cryptanalyst, and computer scientist died. Noted for his contributions to code-breaking during World War 2. Considered the father of theoretical computer science and artificial intelligence. Prosecuted for his homosexuality.

6o years ago, on 4th June 1964 that the Beatles' first world tour was held. Over two months they played 3o concerts in seven countries, beginning in Copenhagen.

50 years ago, on 28th June 1974 that chemists at the University of California, Irvine, published the first report that warned that chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs) could damage the Earth's ozone layer. CFCs were widely used in refrigerators, air conditioning systems and as aerosol propellants.

40 years ago, on 3rd to 6th June 1984 that Indian government troops stormed the Golden Temple in Amritsar, which was being held by a Sikh militant group. More than 1,000 people were killed,
